DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT STUDIES

ASSIGNMENT: CURRICULUM VITAE AND EMAIL TEST

Course	Entrepreneurship
Class	CE/CY/IS/MA/SD/PE/NG/RP/PG/CH 3
Submission deadline	Sunday, 2nd August 2026 11:59PM (There will be No Extensions)
Total marks	100 (plus 5 bonus marks) Will be converted to 10% of Assessment

WHAT THIS ASSIGNMENT TESTS

This assignment tests two separate skills, and both carry marks.

One: whether you can build a clear, honest, well-structured curriculum vitae from a professional template.

Two: whether you can send that document to a busy person by email in a way that a recruiter, a manager, or an investor would take seriously.

A brilliant CV attached to a careless email is a failed application in the real world, and it will be marked as such here. Treat the email as though a job depends on it, because one day it will.

PART A: BUILD YOUR CV (60 marks)

Using the template supplied with this brief, prepare your own curriculum vitae. Work through the following:

1. Open the template and save a copy following the naming convention under your own name before you type anything.
2. Complete every section that applies to you: header, professional summary, education, experience, skills, projects and leadership, other sections, and referees.
3. Insert your name in the header text box that reads (Curriculum Vitae of Your Name)
4. Replace all text in square brackets with your own information, and delete every line of red instruction text as you go.
5. Delete any section or row that does not apply to you rather than leaving it empty.
6. Write experience and leadership entries as achievements, not duties. Begin each with an action verb and include a number wherever you honestly can.
7. Keep the finished CV to one or two pages, in a single font, with consistent spacing throughout.
8. Proofread it. Then read it aloud once and proofread it again.

A NOTE ON HONESTY

Everything on your CV must be true and must be something you can defend in an interview. If you have no formal work experience, use attachments, national service, vacation work, a family business, campus roles, church or association duties, or any small venture you have run. Every one of you has something. Invented experience is treated as academic dishonesty.

PART B: SAVE THE CV AS A PDF (5 marks)

Your CV must be submitted as a PDF. A Word file may open differently on the reader's machine, and your careful layout collapses. Submissions in any other format lose the marks for this part.

On Microsoft Word (computer)

- Click File, then Save As. Choose the folder where you want the file kept.
- Type the file name exactly as set out in Part C below.
- Open the "Save as type" dropdown and select PDF (*.pdf). Click Save.

DO NOT DO THIS

- Do not simply change the file extension from .docx to .pdf. That is not a conversion and the file will not open.
- Do not photograph or screenshot your CV and send the image.
- Do not send a link to a document in your Google Drive or OneDrive. Attach the file itself.

Open the PDF once it is made and look at it. If the layout has shifted or a page has broken in the wrong place, fix the Word file and export again.

PART C: NAME THE FILE CORRECTLY (5 marks)

Hundreds of files arrive in one inbox. A file named "CV.pdf" or "Document1.pdf" is a file that gets lost. Name yours exactly as follows:

CLASS_INDEXNUMBER_SURNAME-FirstName_CV.pdf

Example: CE1_FOE123456789_MENSAH-Kofi_CV.pdf

Part	What to put there
CLASS	Your class code & year number (Use the code for your own class only.)
INDEXNUMBER	Your student index number, digits only, no spaces.
SURNAME	Your surname in capital letters.
FirstName	Your first name, first letter capital. If you use two names, join them with a hyphen.
_CV.pdf	Ends exactly like this

Use underscores between the parts and a hyphen between surname and first name.

No space anywhere in the file name. No brackets, no "final", no "version 2".

PART D: SEND THE EMAIL (30 marks)

Send your PDF as an attachment to the address below, with the second address copied in.

To	sboatengexams@gmail.com
CC	purlxcorp@gmail.com
Subject	Class_CV_Assignment (eg. PE3_CV_Assignment)
Body	Check the Box Below
Attachment	Your CV, as a PDF, named exactly as set out in Part C.
Sent from	Your own email address. If it is not a professional-looking address, create one before you submit.
Deadline	2 nd August 2026, 11:59 pm

THE BODY ARE YOUR DECISION

You will not be told what to write in the body of the email. Working that out is the test.

Ask yourself what the person opening this message needs to know, in what order, and in how few words. Consider how you address someone you have not met, how you say what you want without wasting their time, and how you close.

An email that says nothing but "Please find attached" will be marked down accordingly. So will one that runs to six paragraphs.

BONUS: EMAIL SIGNATURE (up to 5 extra marks)

A professional email signature is optional. It has been taught in class, and any student who sets one up properly and uses it on this submission will earn up to five bonus marks.

Marks are awarded for a signature that is complete, correctly formatted, and appropriately restrained. An oversized image, a quotation, or a wall of coloured text earns nothing.

A CV copied from another student or containing invented experience	Minus 100

BEFORE YOU PRESS SEND ENSURE

- Every square bracket in the template has been replaced with my own information.
- All RED instruction text and examples in the CV template have been deleted.
- The CV is in one font, and every text is spelt correctly.
- You have saved it as a PDF and opened that PDF to confirm it looks right.
- The file name follows the convention exactly, including my class code.
- The file is attached to the email, not pasted into the body and not sent as a link.
- The correct address is in the To field, and the correct address is in the CC field.
- You have written a subject line that would still make sense to the reader in three weeks.
- You have read the body of the email once more, out loud.
- You are sending it before the deadline, not at the deadline.

Late submissions and technical excuses. A network failure on the last evening is not grounds for an extension. Send it early. If the email genuinely fails to deliver, keep the evidence and reach out to me through your course rep
